Hey BHADRI,

Thanks a lot for taking time to fill out the application form for Shipd's DSA II Quest. We've just finished reviewing hundreds of applications and yours was one of the few that stood out on top!

The next (and final step) before we bring you onto the platform is an online HackerRank assessment - you should have received an email invite to complete it, but you can also find it here.

We had a ton of interest for this quest, but can only take a select number of people, and so we'll be reviewing and approving people's submissions on a first-come, first-serve basis. Based on your results, you should hear back within the 6-7 hours based on your results.

Please note that if any cheating is detected from the HackerRank attempt your application for this quest will be disqualified, and you'll also be prevented from joining all other quests on Shipd going forward.

Let me know if you have any questions. Otherwise, looking forward to viewing your submission and talk soon!

Cheers,

James
